Due to its unique aspects, sexual harassment is excepted from the scope and is separately addressed under Policy 07-06-04, Sexual Harassment.

II. POLICY

Nondiscrimination

The University of Pittsburgh, as an educational institution and as an employer, values equality of opportunity, human dignity, and racial/ethnic and cultural diversity. Accordingly, the University prohibits and will not engage in discrimination or harassment on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, sex, age, marital status, familial status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, genetic information, disability, or status as a veteran. The University also prohibits and will not engage in retaliation against any person who makes a claim of discrimination or harassment or who provides information in such an investigation. Further, the University will continue to take affirmative steps to support and advance these values consistent with the University’s mission.

Definition of Harassment

Harassment on the basis of a protected group status (i.e., due to an individual’s race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, sex, age, marital status, familial status, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, genetic information, disability, or status as a veteran) is a form of discrimination prohibited by this policy.

Harassment may occur through a wide range of conduct, such as by verbal, physical or electronic means when:

1. The conduct is severe or pervasive and objectively and subjectively has the effect of:
   a. Unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work or equal access to education; or
   b. Creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work or academic environment; or

2. Such conduct, if repeated, is reasonably likely to meet the standard set forth in number 1 immediately above.

Harassment can occur on University premises or, under limited circumstances, off campus. It can occur between people of the same or different protected group statuses.

When constitutionally protected speech is implicated, this policy will be applied only to the extent consistent with the First Amendment. In addition to meeting the standard set forth above, to rise to the level of prohibited harassment when constitutionally protected speech is implicated, the law requires a tenable threat of material and substantial disruption of University operations or interference with the rights of others.

Affirmative Action

Responsibility for the implementation and monitoring of this policy and equal employment opportunity and affirmative action programs is delegated by the Chancellor to the Director of Affirmative Action, Diversity and Inclusion.
