Learning Center to Host Resume Workshop

Want a job this summer? Or maybe after graduation? Well, let us help you get that dream job. Nowadays, online and document resumes help potential employers seek out qualified candidates.

On March 2nd the Learning Center will host a Resume Workshop from 5:00 pm - 7:00pm in Haskell Memorial Library. The objective of this workshop is to help students develop and practice professional skills that can help them succeed. Pizza, drinks and snacks will be provided. If you already have a resume, you may bring it and faculty and staff can help work with you to polish it up. If you do not have a resume, we are happy to help you design one. Any Questions? – Contact Mr. Ledebur, ledebur@pitt.edu, x4479
Chris Daniels will be interviewing students for upcoming editions of the Panther Print. But first, let’s meet Chris.

What have you learned about college and why do you feel Pitt-Titusville is the place for you?

Pitt-Titusville is the right place for me because I am challenged daily and forced to put forth the effort to be successful.

What are your hobbies and/or interests?

I enjoy playing basketball, competing in pool tournaments and playing flag football.

How would you describe yourself?

I would describe myself as ambitious, determined, well-mannered and respectful.

What plans do you have after graduating from Pitt-Titusville?

After I earn my associate degree at Pitt-Titusville, I would like to transfer to main campus to study performing arts. I also plan on taking business classes. My goal is to some day open a restaurant.

How has your Pitt-Titusville experience helped you grow as a person?

My college experience has helped me grow as an independent individual. Although college is sometimes difficult and a day-to-day struggle, I have learned that perseverance and time management will assist me in overcoming obstacles and allow me to successful.
The Learning Center Welcomes Ms. Melanie LaLone

The Learning Center would like to welcome our newest Learning Center supplemental instructor (SI) and tutor, Ms. Melanie LaLone. Ms. LaLone comes to us with a background in mechanical and biomedical engineering as well as applied sciences. She most recently served in areas of research and development as well as focusing on creating process improvement in many manufacturing units of business. As a supplemental instructor (SI), Ms. LaLone will sit in on the Anatomy & Physiology lecture, lab, and recitation periods as well as offer her help and academic support in the Learning Center along with Dr. Tress and Professor Reynolds.

This will serve as an extra resource for students who may not fully comprehend course/lecture material or need a little extra help studying or working through online modules, supplemental materials, or practice tests. We welcome Ms. LaLone to our team and wish her the very best!

Erie Young Adults

Alpha Omega (OA), a student-led Christian fellowship group on campus, welcomes Pitt students to join together once a month to visit Erie Young Adults (EYA) on the third Tuesday of every month. EYA is a local group of 20 & 30 somethings based out of Erie, PA. Our next trip to EYA’s next Tuesday, February 16th. We will leave the Pitt-Titusville campus at 5:45 p.m. See Mr. Ledebur or Casey Davis, AO president for questions or details.

EYA is a community of young adults, which includes students from many colleges and universities in northwest PA, and welcomes people from different backgrounds and all walks of life. EYA gathers weekly, every Tuesday at 6:30pm at The Summit, (8160 Oliver Rd. Erie, PA). This gathering is a time designed specifically for college students and young adults to learn more about Christ, connect with each other, and find purpose in life. If you wish to learn more about EYA, visit their website http://www.erieyoungadults.org or Facebook page!

In addition to EYA, Alpha Omega, meets weekly, every Thursday night at 7 pm in the Learning Center and is open to all students.
Transforming College Students to Transform the World

On Monday, February 1st, UPT students welcomed to campus, Urban Promise, a Christian non-profit organization from Wilmington, Delaware that strives to support underserved children and youth academically, socially, and emotionally by way of Christian schooling, summer & sports camps, and after-school programs. In 2014, due to high crime and poverty rates, Wilmington, Delaware was considered the most dangerous small city in the United States, and Newsweek called it, "Murder Town USA." Now, with the aid of funding and highly-skilled, caring employees and volunteers, Urban Promise is assisting families in need in the city by focusing on developing youth to become leaders.

Rob Prestowitz, Director of Urban Promise, as well as two of his staff members, Kristin Walker and Anna Manthey-Werley addressed students, including members of UPT’s Black Student Union (BSU) and other organizations, about the students and youth they serve and explained how college students play a vital role in this process. Urban Promise recruits and invites college students to take part in a six-week summer internship in which they live in the city of Wilmington and intern with a summer camp which keeps children actively involved through school activities, sports, field trips, and other experiential opportunities.

The night’s event was hosted by the Learning Center and was a great success! Mr. Ledebur would personally like to thank BSU and all of our students, faculty, and staff who came to support and learn more about their mission. Students were very engaged and discovered the meaning of social justice, and heard uplifting stories about the successes of children and families in the city of Wilmington. If you have any interest in becoming a summer intern or wish to learn more about Urban Promise, please visit http://www.urbanpromise.org/ or contact Mr. Ledebur in the Learning Center.
The contest is open to all Pitt-Titusville and TASD High School students. Two contest winners will receive a Titusville Chamber of Commerce gift certificate for $75.00. Chamber gift certificates can be used at most area businesses, including Walmart.

Kalettes® are a brand new vegetable that are a fresh fusion of sweet and nutty. Not only do they have great flavor but Kalettes are also incredibly versatile and can be cooked in a variety of ways; in fact, Kalettes may well be one of the most versatile vegetables out there! Kalettes can be sautéed, roasted, grilled or eaten raw.

Kalettes are the product of 15 years of hard work and dedication (using traditional breeding techniques) from the British vegetable seed house Tozer Seeds. Kalettes are a non-GMO vegetable developed through traditional hybridization and not genetic modification. Known as Flower Sprouts in the U.K., this delicious vegetable has now made its way across the pond and is called Kalettes in North America.

The inspiration behind Kalettes came from a desire to create a kale type vegetable which was versatile, easy to prepare and looked great. Crossing kale with brussels sprouts was a natural fit since they are both from the Brassica Oleracea species which also includes cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli.

The result is a brand-new vegetable which looks a little like a tiny cabbage with green frilly leaves and streaks of purple. Kalettes get their great taste by combining the best flavors from brussels sprouts and kale, resulting in a fresh fusion of sweet and nutty.
